

BEYOND THE BOOKENDS

Ethelbert B. Crawford Public Library

December, 2013

Volume 1, Issue 2

Library Receives Copy of “Eat First”

Library director Mary Paige Lang-Clouse holding a copy of Fuentes's memoir.

The Ethelbert B. Crawford Public Library received a donated copy of Sonia Pressman Fuentes' memoir, "Eat First- You Don't Know What They'll Give You," from the publisher Xlibris Corp.

Fuentes is a 1946 graduate of Monticello High School, and was one of ten inaugural inductees to the Monticello Central School District Hall of Distinction.

Sonia Pressman Fuentes has been a leader in many feminist organizations, and received numerous awards for her prestigious career in law. Fuentes was one of the founding members of the National Organization of Women (NOW). In 1963, she testified before the House of Representatives Committee on Education and Labor in favor of the Equal Pay Bill, and in 1965 joined the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission as the first woman lawyer in its Office of the General Counsel.

"Eat First- You Don't Know What They'll Give You" tells Fuentes' story, starting with her family's immigration from Nazi Germany. She tells about her life as an immigrant growing up in the Catskills, her educational and professional experiences, and how she became a champion of feminism.

Discussion group for Millennials

The Millennial Book group is a new discussion group at the E. B. Crawford Library. The discussion group is for people in their 20s and 30s, and meets once a month. The group encourages young adults to try new genres of literature, and connect with other people with similar interests. The first three discussion books have centered on magic and fantasy, and The next three will be humor books.

So far, members have read "The Night Circus" by Erin Morgenstern, and parts 1 and 2 of "Jonathan Strange and Mr Norrell" by Susanna Clarke. At the next meeting on January 16, part 3 of "Jonathan Strange and Mr Norrell" will be discussed. The book for February will be "The Prestige" by Christopher Priest.

For more information, or to suggest books for the discussion, contact Joanna at 845-794-4660 ext. 8, or by email at jgoldfarb@rcls.org. Ideas and questions can also be posted to the library Facebook and twitter pages (@Crawford_PubLib).

Upcoming Events

Toddler Story Time: Mondays at 11:00

Pre-k Story Time: Fridays at 11:00

Teen book club: January 8 "The Lost Hero"

Elementary book club: January 22 "The View from Saturday"

Millennial Book Discussion Jonathan Strange and Mr Norrell (Part 3) January 16 at 6:15

Jewelry Making January 28 at 6:15

Elementary Science Day: January 24

Teen Science Day: January 31

Family Movies: Saturdays at 3:00

New Magazines at your Library

- Artist's Magazine
- ESPN Magazine
- Food Network
- InStyle
- Men's Health
- Popular Mechanics
- Psychology Today
- Rolling Stone
- Vegetarian Times
- Women's Health

and more!

Children's Programs

November's Science Day: Ooblek!

Our children's programs go beyond story time! The second-to-last Friday of each month is elementary Science Day! In December we made our own compasses. We also have an elementary book club that meets monthly. Be ready to discuss "The View From Saturday" by E.L. Konigsburg on January 22.

Book Review

Who Was Walt Disney? by Whitney Stewart

Walter Elias Disney Born 12 - 5 - 1901,
Died 12 - 15 - 1966.

This is a quick read biography in our Children's Library which I thoroughly enjoyed and recommend for any age.

It is amazing what this man has contributed to our lives. A must read to enhance a trip to any Disney theme park.

Review by Theresa

Teens' Top Ten

We are happy to announce that the E.B. Crawford Public Library won a giveaway from the Young Adult Library Services Association! The Teen's Top Ten are books that were voted the best of the year by teens around the country. We not only won copies of all ten winners, but all 28 nominees! Come to the library to check out the hottest books of 2013.

The Teen Advisory Group (TAG) got first look at our new books!

TAG meetings are on the 3rd Wednesday of each month. New members are welcome.

FAQ: How many times a day can I use a computer? One 45 min. computer session per day.

Coming in January: Laptop plugins will be permitted upstairs near the non-fiction collection.

Congratulations to the Cammerino Family on winning 1st prize in the scarecrow decorating contest!

Friends of the Library

There is nothing like sharing great times with friends, and The Friends of the Library did just that! This Fall the Friends joined 30 community members and spent time together learning about and drinking tea at the fabulous Inn at Lake Joseph. Elizabeth Knight shared her knowledge about tea as the friends drank tea out of antique cups and ate home made goodies.

On October 26th many families spent time at the library decorating scarecrows, while others enjoyed arts and crafts activities inside and sipped apple cider and munched on donuts. It was a great family day! The "Friends" are planning a February event for children (watch for details as the date nears) to break some cabin fever!

We can always use more friends! Stop by the library to pick up a brochure and sign yourself and your family up to be "Friends." You can also visit us on Facebook!

Happy Holidays to all and a Happy and Healthy New Year full of joy and, of course, reading!

New Books

Children

Flora and the Flamingo by Molly Idle

Peep and Ducky by David Martin

Penguin and Pinecone by Salina Yoon

Teen

Seraphina by Rachel Hartman

Picture Me Gone by Meg Rosoff

The Beginning of After by Jennifer Castle

Adult

From the Dead by Mark Billingham

Killing Cupid by Laura Levine

The Death Trade by Jack Higgins

Non-Fiction

The Split History of World War I by Michael Burgan

Yes She Did: Sports by Taylor Ruden

Ski Slopestyle by Darice Bailer

The Body Book by Cameron Diaz

